

MLMIP DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

USAMMA is an outstanding place to learn diverse medical logistics management from a Joint Service perspective. Through our Medical Logistics Management Internship Program you will continue to build on your logistical foundation, add another piece to your professional knowledge and skills, and expand your network affiliations in the Department of Defense and civilian health care environments.

USAMMA has been associated with the development and education of medical logisticians for over 35 years through didactics and practical applications. As an intern, you will learn the latest medical logistics advancements and business practices being used today and in progress for the future. You will be empowered with "out-of-the-box thinking" skills to help you become a state-of-the-art medical logistician.

If you are looking for a challenging educational experience that combines DOD initiatives with worldwide business applications, I encourage you to consider applying for our program and be better prepared for those future assignments. Become a part of USAMMA's history and make a difference in the Army's Medical Logistics Community.
